MARKET OUTLOOK - EQUITY, CURRENCY & COMMODITY

What in Nifty?

Tracking Nifty For The Week: (Week ending April 21,2017 -All Nifty levels refer to Nifty Futures) The trend deciding point for the week for Nifty was at 9213mark. During this week as long as Nifty does not close ABOVE the level of 9213 market was not expected to go UP. It was envisaged that in the early part of the week,if Nifty stayed below 9213, then the current trend was expected to take Nifty towards the first weekly support of 9157 mark. if Nifty breached below the support point of 9157 under selling pressure and closed below it, then the immediate trend was to continue to be negative and nifty was to move towards 9113 mark or 9057 mark, depending on the supply pressure. On the other hand, if Nifty did not breach the level of 9157 and if nifty turned upward, then it was expected to move towards the trend deciding point of 9213. A close above this mark was expected to change the trend to positive and nifty was expected to move towards the first weekly resistance of 9257 mark.

An extract of nifty View of April 20, 2017, suggested: “An intermediate resistance stands at 9169 mark. If there is not much demand, then Nifty can reverse from here for downside, instead of 9189 mark.” And the HIGH of the day was at 9170 mark.

For Friday, April 21, 2017, the trend deciding point for the day for Nifty emerges at 9077 mark. On its down move Nifty is expected to take support around 9077 mark. If this level is broken due to strong selling pressure, then the next support is expected to emerge at9007mark.But this will be possible only if there is a sharp down move. On ascent, the first resistance exists at 9220 mark. A sharp up move can make nifty cross this level and make it reach to 9293 mark, depending on the force of demand pressure. An intermediate resistance stands at 9196 mark. If there is not much demand, then Nifty can reverse from here for downside, instead of 9220 mark. On the other hand, an intermediate support exists at 9127 mark. If there is not much supply, then Nifty can reverse from here for upside, instead of 9077 mark.

What in Banknifty?

Tracking Banknifty For The Week: (Week ending April 21, 2017, -All Banknifty levels refer to Banknifty Futures) The trend deciding point for the week for Banknifty was at 21612 mark. During this week as long as Banknifty did not close BELOW the level of 21612, Banknifty was not expected to go DOWN. The current trend was expected to take Banknifty towards the first weekly resistance of 21868 mark. For any reason, if Banknifty closed above the first resistance point of 21868, then the immediate trend was to continue to be positive and Banknifty was to move towards 22069 mark or 22326 mark, depending on the demand pressure. On the other hand, If this resistance of 21868 was not crossed or if bank nifty moved downward much before touching this point then there were chances that Banknifty would move towards the trend deciding point of 21612 mark. A further selling pressure at 21612 was to make Banknifty close below this level and then the immediate trend was to turn in to negative and it was to provide a push to Banknifty to touch 21411 mark, the first weekly support, depending on the supply pressure.

For Friday, April 21, 2017, the trend deciding point for the day for Bank Nifty works out at 21386 mark. Thus any fall in Bank Nifty towards this level of 21386 should get a support. If this support zone is broken due to strong selling pressure, then the next support is expected to emerge around 21220 mark. But this is possible only if there is a sharp downmove. On the ascent, an important resistance exists at 21723 mark. If this is crossed, then the next resistance is expected to emerge at 21895 mark.
